

EPEA Generic Dataset Terms Of Use

1.1 CONDITIONS FOR THE USE OF EPE DATA LIMITED RIGHT TO USE EPEA DATA

EPEA GmbH – Part of Drees & Sommer (hereinafter, “EPEA”) makes available data about generic materials (hereinafter, “Data”) through the Madaster Platform (hereinafter, “Madaster”) without charge.

The Data is intellectual property of EPEA and may only be used within the Madaster platform. The data may not be exported, copied or removed from the platform or be used for other purposes than calculations within Madaster. Any other use of the data violates EPEA’s creators rights and EPEA will pursue any contravention legally.

1.2 DATA WARRANTY

All data is expressly provided AS IS. EPEA makes no warranty of any kind, express or implied, concerning this information, including but not limited to any warranties of merchantability or fitness for any particular purpose. EPEA assumes no responsibility or legal liability concerning the Data’s accuracy, reliability, completeness, timeliness, or usefulness.

The Data is not intended to constitute advice nor is it to be used as a substitute for specific advice of a professional. Users should not act (or refrain from acting) based upon information in the Data without independently verifying the information and obtaining any necessary professional advice. Users are solely responsible for ensuring the accuracy, currency and other qualities of any products derived from or in connection with the Data.

The Data is collected from various sources, and may be modified over time without notice to improve local and attribute accuracy.

1.3 TERMINATION OF DATA AVAILABILITY

EPEA reserves the right to modify the Data in any way and in any time or discontinue providing any or all of the Data at any time without notice.

The registered user is responsible himself/herself for an adequate protection of his/her data. The registered user is not entitled to grant third parties access to the Data with his or her Madaster access data. The registered user must protect the Madaster access data from unauthorized access by third parties. The registered user bears the responsibility and is liable for all actions carried out with the help of the access data granted to him/her.